TO: All Serbian Orthodox Churches and Friends:

The Mita Topalovich Choir and the St. George Serbian Orthodox Church Parish of Joliet, Illinois have been bestowed the honor of serving as hosts of the 68th Annual Serbian Singing Festival. This annual event brings together all church and concert choirs for a truly resounding and exciting weekend of choral music and social activity. Vocal groups from across the United States and Canada will be represented, which could total around 20 choirs traveling to Joliet Memorial Day Weekend, May 22, 23, 24, 2009. We will have an excellent opportunity to demonstrate our Midwest hospitality as we accommodate our guests. In addition, we want all of our area residents, officials and business leaders to be a part of this excellent music experience.

Hosting the Serbian Singing Festival is a major undertaking and we are seeking your help, support and co-operation to make it successful. The Mita Topalovich Choir would be most grateful and appreciative for whatever donations and contributions you could make toward our undertaking. We especially invite you to participate and to join us in making our Program Book a true reflection of our Joliet community spirit and unity of the Greater Chicagoland and Midwest Area. This book will have nation wide distribution, and we want our Program Book to be memorable as well!
